Album: «It takes a village»

«It's only our way... or the highway» is not just a slogan - its a lifestyle. ZIBBZ's kinda lifestyle, which sibling duo Coco & Stee Gfeller have been living for years without looking back.

Uptight, boring pop songs? - no chance. Disillusioned, depressing lyrics - nope.

lively melodies? Absolutely!

September 1st 2017 is the release date for their second album and their favorite work yet - «It takes a village»!

Shaped by the two worlds, Zurich and their second home Los Angeles, this record holds a promise which many lack - an international sound.

Playful synths to tease our ears, a heart pumping drum beat and addictive, danceable melodies topped by Cocos raw and honest vocals.

It's not often that a swiss band sticks to their own style as they have done, transforming their vision fearlessly, completely taking the production of «It takes a village» into their own hands.

Multi-instrumentalist Stee is not only the producer but also the mastermind behind the music, while Coco writes melodies & lyrics. Both label-work and promotion is done in house - with involved partners. The upcoming album is itching to be played on stages across the world to leave audiences enthralled, whilst always conveying a "we are just doing what makes us happy - take it or leave it" kind of attitude.

Growing up in a musical household the two siblings were introduced to the music business before they could walk, watching their mom playing drums across the country.

ZiBBZ are a perfect example "for Generation Y", a life without boundaries, following what makes them happy and getting everyone around them addicted too with content.. like the weekly «OnetakeMonday» videos they self produce and share every Monday until the album release!

Covering other songs in a unique way, or playing songs that are on the upcoming record, like «Undun» featuring fruit & vegetables being made into instruments by electric wires, creating loops, which quickly reached over 500'000 views on Facebook in the first few days and still counting!

There's still a few Mondays until September.. but «It takes a village» will definitely be a record you wont want to miss. It will send you on an emotional journey, make you dream and dance, full of addictive melodies which will fulfil you and still leave you wanting more. So what else could there be left to ask for? Not much. Just your own copy of the ZIBBZ album!
